“CITY INTELLIGENCE!” COUNTY PROSECUTOR CARTER

TREAT WASBURN FOREBODS ETO VOTE

Webster Names Colleague Who Promised to “Drive Him Out of Politics.”

“TRAITORS” DENOUNCED THE VOTE IS 170 TO 58

Charles H. Webster, Republican representative from Northfield, today charged Representative E. Warren Tyler of Atch with having threatened him with “political extinction” for his vote to sustain the Governor’s western treaty merger veto.

Representative Webster said that both before and after the vote on the bill he was approached—before the bill he was urged to vote for it, and that after he had voted against it Tyler came to him and threatened to “drive him out of politics.”

Webster’s accusation against his fellow Representative came as a sensational aftermath to the fight in the House yesterday, when the most ardent lobbyist present to the State House in years, working openly in the corridors, succeeded in securing through the vote of the House the passage of the bill.

Representative Webster said that a man who approached him was a “traitor” and a “sell-out” and that he would not give out the man’s name. He said that the man was a “sell-out” and that he would not give out the man’s name.

“I replied, ‘I voted as I thought,’ and I shall continue to do so,” Representative Webster was asked what he said to the man who approached him. “I said, ‘I am not a traitor,’ and I shall continue to do so.”

WASBURN HOUSE TODAY DECISIVELY REFUSES TO SUSTAIN THE GOVERNOR’S ACTION.

THE VOTE IS 170 TO 58

The House of Representatives today passed the Washburn railroad bill over the Governor’s veto by a vote of 170 to 58.

Many Democrats voted against the Governor and in favor of the bill. The New Haven lobby, led by Robert A. Southworth, was active, and won a most impressive victory. It was the bill the New Haven wanted since all others to be passed, and was characterized by Governor Foss as a “discreditible bargain.”

Workman Drowns in Neponset River

Morris R. Mott, twenty-eight years, single, living at No. 38 Hingham street, Dorchester, was drowned today in the Neponset river when the boat in which he was working capsized. The boat was owned by the Neponset Valley Road Clay Coal. Mott was not a strong swimmer, and the wind in the river at this time was very strong. It is believed that he also became entangled in the cable and was pulled under. His body was recovered and is being kept at the morgue until it can be identified.

Sailor Born on 13th Takes Bride on 13th

Thirteen Guests, Thirteen Courses and Thirteen Fancy Drinks. CHICAGO, June 13.—James W. Kral is a sailor. He was married today, Friday, June 13, 1913. He was born on June 13, twenty-three years ago today. Miss Jeanie Patton, aged 18, was his bride. She was a little nervous, but she said it was only from the excitement attending the ceremony and not through any fear of the figure “13.” The wedding dinner was set at 3:15 this afternoon. A dinner of thirteen courses and thirteen kinds of fancy drinks will be served to thirteen guests. After dinner more guests will be received and 13 automobiles will take them on a trip to 13 place of amusement. Just before midnight Mr. and Mrs. Kral will start on a 13-day honeymoon trip in the East.

Number 13 Follows Wilson During Day

WASHINGTON, June 13.—As always during the life of the number 13 followed President Wilson on this Friday, June 13. The hands of the 13th alarm clock which serves to awaken the chief executive pointed to 7:13 o’clock as he arose. Exactly an hour later the President sat down to breakfast, and 7:13 marked his entrance to the executive offices where he found 13 roses in his vase.

Must Pay Bill of Man He Had Jailed

NORTHAMPTON, N. H., June 13.—Tax collector Walter H. Page took up today to the fact that “Friday the thirteenth” is a bad day for him as so far as it goes to getting William Clark out of the county jail without paying the latter’s board bill of $32. Five weeks ago Page ordered the jail for two years’ term. Sheriff Clayton Whitney today paid Page a bill of $32 for Clark’s board.

Inez Milholland Tries on Handcuffs

NEW YORK, June 13.—Miss Milholland, suffragist, took up yesterday the study of conditions in Sing Sing Prison as an assistant to the inquiry before the New York County Grand Jury at White Plains. She listened for an hour to the story of two long-term convicts, William and John, who had been in the prison for years.

WRECK ENGINEER ARRESTED

Couldn’t Stop Train When He Tried to Federal Investigators Hear.

STAMFORD, Ct., June 13.—“Criminal negligence was responsible for this terrible affair,” declared County Prosecutor Galen A. Carter today.

“I shall prosecute to the limit,” he added. “I will not permit any guilty person to escape.”

Investigation of yesterday’s disaster which killed an and caused injury to a score and for which Engineer Charles Deberry was arrested today, has already demonstrated three facts:

1.—The engine’s air brakes did not work. The train crew knew they were out of order. They had never been overhauled.

2.—The engine was a new one and had not been inspected. Railroad men say new engines are notoriously “cranky.”

3.—The car which the engine ripped open was wooden—not steel. Had it been steel, not more than half the fatalities and deaths would have resulted.

4.—Engineer Charles J. Deberry, before the engine, had had little experience in the cab of a heavy locomotive.

5.—Twelve breakers on an overhead bridge had been allowed several times that afternoon. Known.

August REDUCTION Sale NOW IN PROGRESS

Moving My Business Calendar 60 Days Ahead to Dispose of a $321,000 Excess of Stock—Unmatchable CLOTHES VALUES

When a few months ago I succeeded to the entire control of this immense business, I immediately set in action gigantic plans for its expansion which will eventually mean GEORGES stores in every principal city throughout the country. By strenuous hustling I had already completed negotiations for the opening of five new branches this Spring—and had made all my stock preparations accordingly—but I was the victim of misfortune, being stricken with septemia, necessitating an operation, incapacitating me for more than 60 days and rendering impossible the carrying out of my original plans.

Now, in addition to my regular stocks, in themselves far heavier than they should be because of the extremely backward season due to unfavorable weather conditions of April and May, I am frightfully overloaded with all the goods intended for my new stores. My present stock excess I approximate to be $321,000, the greater portion of which is awaiting distribution to my stores when they have space to receive it.

The public knows my methods. I NEVER CONSIDER IT SENSATIONAL TO PUBLISH REAL FACTS. I am harshly criticised, but I seem to thrive on it. Thirty-four years of SUCCESS now dignify the GEORGES name, because I keep faith with the Public, and give saving opportunities that it pays them to grasp. In offering you AUGUST REDUCTIONS NOW, I unhesitatingly pronounce this to be the VALUE-GIVING EFFORT OF MY CAREER.

My Windows Reveal the Marvelous Savings

$13.50 and $15	$9.50	$16.50 & $18	$12.50
Garments		Garments
$20 & $22.50	$14.50	$25 and $28	$16.50

GIRL DEMANDS STOCKINGS ON BOSTON 'VENUS'

For "Venus."

While Miss Herick's case was being heard in private her Harvard college friend, "Jimmy" Davis, waited outside the regular Municipal Court room door, thinking Miss Herick would emerge that way. As she came out through another door from the judge's lobby Davis asked her. He started about when told Miss Herick had gone.

Among the witnesses against Miss Herick were the unknown model and Mrs. Edith Wilcox, owner of William Wilcox, who, Miss Herick said, had authorized her to charge goods in his name.

Mrs. Wilcox testified that all from two suit came to their home and that she had bought only two of the articles on it.

The unknown girl model testified Miss Herick was fined $200 for "stealing" suits, as Clerk Blackman pointed her the suit. She striped $50 from the suit, paid her fine and walked out, followed by the unknown witness.

In the corridor the unknown witness told to Miss Herick:

Demanding Stockings
Miss Herick walked on. Mrs. Brown, the probation officer, and John Clark, attorney for the prosecuting department, stopped in between the two models.

Then the unknown model her assertion about "if she's a Venus, I'm a goddess, and Lord knows, I'm heavily clothed."

Miss Herick was acting nothing. The unknown model:

"Don't let her get out of this place. I want my petticoat and silk stockings. This girl lived with me in a house on Newbury street. She left three weeks ago and she's got my petticoat and silk stockings on and I want them now."

Heavily suggested that a complaint in the lower court was the only recourse for the unknown. Interested spectators began to gather. Miss Herick steadily walked along and while some body engaged the attention of the spectators, Miss Herick slipped out of the building.

Mrs. Astor to Visit Son's Newport Home

NEWPORT, R. I., June 13.—For the first time in five years, Mrs. Astor and her daughter, Miss Astor, will come to Newport. CUSHING TRIES TO KILL CHILD IN LABOR INQUIRY

At the dictation of Speaker Cushing, the House Rules Committee, on which Cushing is the head, today reported against the Sullivan order for a legislative investigation to grip out the child labor evils in the Commonwealth.

Five members of the committee dissented from the adverse report. These include two Democrats and three Republicans, who defied the will of the majority. They are Representative Michael J. McFadden, of Boston, Joseph P. Mooney, of Blackstone, Nathan L. Curtis, of Waltham, J. Eugene Bowie, of Newburyport, and Henry B. Putnam, of Westfield. Thomas W. Whittemore, the ranking Republican member of the committee, reserved his rights on the matter.

The adverse report of the committee is peculiar in view of the fact that no opposition appeared before the committee at the hearing on the order, while more than fifty representatives either spoke or were recorded in favor.

Representative Michael J. McFadden of Boston assailed Speaker Cushing for his opposition to the measure. "THE VOTE ON THIS MATTER, WHICH WILL PROBABLY COME NEXT WEEK, WILL SHOW WHO ARE THE REAL FRIENDS OF THE LABORING CLASS IN THIS HOUSE."

House Members to Visit Navy Yard

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Members of the House Committee on Naval Affairs are planning a July trip of inspection of the Charlestown, Mass., Portsmouth, N. H., and other navy yards of the Atlantic coast, which may be extended to take in the Albatross and Bremerton yards, and the Pacific, it seems probable.

MOTORMAN RUN DOWN BY AUTO IN WINCHESTER

A runaway automobile struck by Leonard H. Spaulding of Everett, Mass., Winchester, struck and severely injured motorman Michael Burke of the Day State Street Railway Company today while Burke was stepping from the telephone box to his car at Baltimore's crossing.

Burke was thrown twenty feet and had his knee and elbow injured and received a cut over his left eye. Spaulding recently faced an alleged charge in connection with the alleged slapping of Evan S. Cameron of No. 40 St. Mary's street, Brookline, by his negro chauffeur in the St. Mary's house entry.

Spaulding was arrested about a year ago when his automobile struck a school boy, sending a Wolcott street.

Suspend Thirteen Senior Students

Boys' Fall from Grace.
BIRMINGHAM, June 14.—They don't want to spoil their good clothes—hence challenged the juniors to a flag race at recess—thirteen Biddford High School seniors were whatever they could find to school today, and as a result, all were suspended. The quadrangle juniors, the 12th, 13th, and 14th seniors—proved too much.

Here are two sample costumes:
Black velvet suit—knee trousers.
Four yards of red ribbon as necktie.

Red stockings.
Three slippers.
And—

HILTON'S ASTOR HOUSE SALE

MEN'S CLOTHES

New York's Old Astor House, once the gathering place of Diplomats and Fashionables, is soon to be torn down. The Hilton Clothes Shop, for several years the gathering place of value-seeking men, is to be discontinued. The result is obvious—a Sale!

NEW YORK men have patronized our Astor House Shop because the merchandise it contained fitted their needs to a nicety. If you have studied the clothing field, HILTON CLOTHES were included in this study, for they are a very significant part of the clothes sold in this city. You have learned that HILTON CLOTHES are made by the HILTON COMPANY in their own shops and by their own skilled tailors. You have learned that the designer of "HILTON CLOTHES" is not only an artist, but a genius. You know he has the power of putting that "something" into a garment which makes it brisk, stunning, different. You should know, if you do not, that this style which is easy to see but cannot be analyzed is always noticeable in HILTON CLOTHES whether you pay the top notch or the lowest price.

And such price reductions you have rarely seen—$50 suits at $33.50, $40 suits at $26.75, $35 suits at $23.25, 30 suits at $20, $25 suits at $17.50, $22.50 suits at $15 and $18 suits at $12.50.

NOW, that our New York Astor House Shop is to be discontinued, the clothes which were made expressly for it have been shipped to this shop and are now on sale. Explanations—details—are unnecessary. The Gold-Bond value of HILTON CLOTHES is well-known. At the new price it will become better known.

We especially call your attention to our snug-form-fitting English Models cut from a rare lot of Oxford cloth with natural shoulders, tapering sleeves, high vents and straight, high-cut trousers. If you do not prefer these styles, the same fabrics are also to be found in the more typically American models.

Servicable, staple blue serges cut in a number of appealing modes.

For the young man and the man who feels young, our range of shepherd check and pin and pencil stripes offers the latest products of the loom.

G. O. P. CHIEFS TO RETALIATE ON PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A committee on the amendment redefining Presidential, legislative and judicial prerogatives is being considered by Senate Republicans in retaliation for the alleged lobbying of President Wilson.

"It is an open secret," said Senator Townsend today, "that Democratic members of both Houses have been instructed to vote for what they don't think a right. Legislators should vote according to their opinions and it is time that an influence that has been exerted under the present administration that never before was thoroughly aided."

INDUST FOUR AS HEADS OF VICE TRUST

NEW YORK, June 12.—District Attorney Whitman obtained yesterday, after a year's search for evidence, the indictment of the four powerful heads of the vice trust which controlled 1,000 white slaves in the old Tenderloin, between Fourteenth street and Perry street, which operated between thirty and forty houses, and reaped yearly profits estimated at $1,000,000.

The four are Mortimer Goldberg, his wife, Rose Goldberg; Louis Harbison, and George Cohen, successors in turn to Goldberg, who is known as the "king" of the vice land, has fled to Buenos Aires. Witnesses search for him on the way was started at once.

Harbison has either fled to Paris or is on the way there, and a colleague has been sent to the Paris police. The woman is believed to be with the men.

Assistant District Attorney James Smith, who is in charge of the investigation, has been authorized to get the vice trust paid a monthly toll of $20,000 to the police "service" in the old Tenderloin. The rate was fixed at $1,000 a house, the District Attorney's informant declared.

The annual profit from this vice trust was therefore close upon $2,000,000.

The indictments and the amazing exposure of the secrets of the vice trust came from the confession of two so-called "agents," Nellie and Zule Schaefer. They are not related. They had been recruited and were held in the building, facing the alternatives of conviction or prison.

Wife's Grape Juice Best, Says Bryan

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A delegation of Bloomington, Cal., businessmen called on Secretary Bryan at the State Department and presented him with a quantity of California grape juice in a cardboard wood case with a silver inscription plate. The Secretary said Mrs. Bryan made the best grape juice in the world, but that he would be delighted to try the California article.

Save 11,000 Deserted Cats.

Agents of the Animal Rescue League are preparing to gather in the thousands of stray cats and dogs which will be expected, abandoned when families move away for the summer. Over 11,000 cats have been rescued this year.

CALLINGER PUTS SWAMPY LOBBY CLASS

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Senator Callinger of New Hampshire today declared the lobby investigation into a political device today when he declared that President Wilson's recent warning to lobbyists was not a warning to lobbyists, but a warning to the lobby class.

The Senator declared that the lobby class was a class of men who were not interested in the public good, but in the private gain. He declared that the lobby class was a class of men who were not interested in the public good, but in the private gain.

Gray Denies Count Is Seeking Duel

Boston Artist Who Defended Girl Does Not Expect Challenge.

Stephen Gray, the athletic young Boston artist, who was arrested as the defender of a little girl whose Count Alberto Bianconi had slapped, when seen at his summer home in Ipswich today by a Boston AMERICAN reporter, denied that he expected a duel challenge from his titled adversary, and said:

"The Count, I suppose, is the daughter of the Count and Mrs. George R. Gray because they charged him with being his lover. I happened to be the one nearest to him, and I stepped forward to protect the child, who was crying."

"I asked him: 'Count, how would you like that done to yourself? You must not do that.' He glared at me for a second, but my warning proved sufficient."

Widow to Carry Out Flagler Plans

Wall Street Discovers That Oil Trust Magnate Left Sceptre to Woman.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Wall Street has discovered that Henry M. Flagler, who died a few weeks ago, trusted his widow's ability to carry out his railroad dreams as fully as did E. H. Harriman when he gave Mrs. Harriman as large a role in the management of his estate as the Flagler son, wealthy in his own right, has been for himself.

Mrs. Flagler is one of the three trustees of the estate of the estate. It is believed Mrs. Flagler will continue the railroad construction in Florida, particularly the line to run along the Florida Peninsula to Lake Okechobee. When this road is completed Mrs. Flagler will, in co-operation with the other trustees, carry out Mr. Flagler's plan of double tracking the entire Florida coast line from Key West to Miami. The system is the greatest single-track railroad system in the United States.

Can Slow the Heart Down for 10 Minutes

Dr. Carrel Says Organ Has Powers of Great Resistance.

PARIS, June 12.—Operation in the heart region can be performed as easily as in the abdomen, according to Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York. In a lecture at the Roujon Hospital the Nobel prize winner declared experiments on animals had demonstrated the heart has the power of great resistance, and that it does not suffer harm if the circulation is interrupted for five or even ten minutes. The heart, Dr. Carrel said, may not be interrupted for five or even ten minutes. The heart, Dr. Carrel said, may not be interrupted for five or even ten minutes.

The "Vibrako"

See what a prominent citizen, identified with the educational institutions of Boston for 40 years, says of The "Vibrako"

The Vibrako Company, 555 Boylston Street, Boston: Dear Sirs—I feel it a sense of duty on my part to write this letter to you, on account of the very great benefit that my wife has received from the use of your Vibrako. For more than thirty years my wife has been a constant and terrible sufferer from rheumatism, known as rheumatoid arthritis. We have tried all the known rheumatic remedies with no apparent results. A short time ago one of your operators, accompanied by a well-known Boston physician, called at my home to see my wife, and gave her a treatment with the Vibrako for about thirty minutes, with the most remarkable results, which appeared to us marvelous upon the strength of this we obtained one of your Vibrakos and she has been treated daily by my son, and her improvement has been continuous.

From the beginning the chalky deposits in her joints (which were very much distorted) are rapidly disappearing, and the pain is entirely subsided. One of the most gratifying results from the use of the Vibrako is that instead of sleepless nights, she is able to sleep through the entire night comfortably. A few days ago she walked one-half of a mile without the use of crutches or any assistance whatsoever. This she has not been able to do for many years. She also ran a sewing machine, and while she is not completely cured, she is rapidly improving, for all of which we are, indeed, grateful. In the past she has been afflicted with chills, but since we have been using the Vibrako the chills have entirely disappeared, which seems almost incredible.

A personal interview with the writer may be arranged with your Company. Gratefully yours, The original letter with signature may be seen at our Office. These results were obtained through the new form of Mechanical Vibratory Treatment, produced by our little hand-power device—the "Vibrako"—which can be easily operated by a child. The price is within the reach of all. If you are suffering from any form of Rheumatism such as Neuritis, Lumbago, Sciatica, Arthritis, Gout, Neuralgia, some forms of Paralysis, Deafness, Insomnia, Constipation, or Obesity, we believe you can also be relieved. We offer you our most convincing proof—A FREE TRIAL TREATMENT at our Office. Open for the demonstration of the "Vibrako" on week days from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. If you cannot come, send for our descriptive booklet (A), or telephone Back Bay 1449. Male and Female Demonstrators in attendance.

ANOTHER 5TH AVENUE TAILOR SUCCUMBS We have waged merry war for nearly two years on all our high priced competitors, and the story that follows simply means that another high-priced tailor has fallen a victim to the R. & C. system of selling $40 to $60 values at $12.75.

ONE WEEK ONLY Any $40 KILLING SALE to $60 $12.75

An exclusive Fifth Avenue Tailor who for years catered to the swells of fashionland, making suits from $40 to $60, has succumbed to the competition of the mighty organization of Ritchie & Cornell. Competition, bad debts, charge accounts, lack of business, excessive carrying charges and a few other little worries forced them to the wall. A representative called upon us with this generous offer, in request to buy them out. Our cash offer was accepted immediately, and we are able to offer guaranteed $40 to $60 Fifth Avenue suits—some sufficient for 3-piece suits, others for 2-piece suits—special for this week only, made to measure, at $12.75.

GOV. FOSS SIGNS BILL ON STREET RAILWAY STOCKS

Governor Foss today signed the bill giving street railway companies the right to issue preferred stock to twice the amount of their common stock, provided the preferred stock so issued had the same voting power as the common. The Railroad Commissioners have a supervisory power over the issue of new stock under the bill.

The Governor had suggested to the Senate the change whereby the preferred stock given voting power. This feature constitutes the great difference between this bill and the Washburn and trolley merger bills. In the disputed sections of the other bills, the roads are allowed to issue bonds—stock—to twice the amount of their common stock, and the bonds have no voting power.

Two Autoists Up for Manslaughter

Cases Continued at Court Hearing in Cambridge.

The cases of Eugene L. Quinn and William E. Whitcomb, charged with manslaughter, appeared in Cambridge Court today. Their cases were continued to June 24.

Whitcomb is charged with causing the death of William Parker of No. 3 Edwin street, Roxbury, on May 28. He was operating a delivery truck which ran into and killed Parker.

Malden Subway Measure Is Signed

Governor Foss has signed the bill to modify certain locations of the Boston Elevated in Charlestown and to provide for a subway in Everett and Malden. This bill supplements a former act which provided for an elevated structure in the cities named.

CROWDS JOIN BRIGHTON HUNT FOR WILD STEER

Severe police men with revolvers, assisted by dozens of men and boys, drove from the stockyards in Brighton, are searching today for a huge steer which escaped from the slaughter room at the Brighton Abattoir after putting to rout a force of butchers who attempted to stop its flight.

The steer was last seen headed along the railroad tracks in the direction of Newton, after fighting off pursuit through North Brighton and Forest Hills. The animal is three years old and weighs 1,100 pounds.

He was being led to the slaughter in the abattoir when the trouble commenced. The steer was hoisted off the floor with a chain by its hind legs. Richard Kaplan was about to run a knife across its throat when the chain snapped and the huge animal came down on its nose.

The seven or eight butchers in the room, including Foreman John M. Sullivan, and two employees, Minnie and Ralph, made a rush for the steer, which was lumbering about on its slippery floor. It gained its feet, however, and with a roar lowered its head and rushed at its would-be captors.

The butchers ran for the door and locked it behind them. A few of them did not think they were safe enough and sought refuge on the roof of an adjoining chalet from where they heard the animal batter the slaughter room in its efforts to escape.

The door leading into a dressing room off the slaughter room was forgotten by the butchers in their haste. The steer found its way among the dressed carcasses of several predecessors and its bellowing increased. The animal's eyes blazed as it caught sight of a window. With one leap the steer cleared mesh and sill, and landed in the yard.

Ask for Master in Church Dispute

A master has been asked for to hear the issues involved in the suit filed by the Rev. George A. Crawford for the Massachusetts Baptist Society of Boston against Bishop Hamilton, Pastor Leopold A. Voss and others connected with the Broadway Street Church, asking that the latter be excluded from the church pending the termination of the suit. The action was brought to determine which set of trustees is to have control.

DIES AS CRAFT EXPLODES ON AIR JOY RIDE

LIMA, O., June 12.—As the result of taking "just a little joy ride" in an untested biplane, Andrew Drew, a pupil of Crestie Wright, is dead, after dropping 200 feet to his blazing machine.

His partner in a local school of aviation, J. A. Branson, had urged him not to make the trip, but Drew wished to try out the biplane.

He was dead when Branson and several witnesses at the Lima State Hospital pulled his body from under the wreck.

When in the air but a short time, Drew shot off his motor, and the men at the aviation grounds saw a red tongue of flame dart from the machine.

The flash of red at the rear of the machine increased, and Drew made no emergency dip in the effort to save himself. The biplane, hesitating for a moment, suddenly shot downward, reaching sea level.

As Branson and the other spectators ran across the field to the wreck, Drew was an explosion, and the machine was torn apart.

MAY BUILD CITY ICE PLANT IN SOMERVILLE

A project from the Highland Avenue Trade Betterment Association, lodged with Mayor Burns of Somerville and forwarded by him to the Board of Aldermen, resulted in the passage of an order calling for the appointment of a special committee of five to investigate the live situation in the city and report, at its earliest convenience.

In part, the communication from the association read:

On the first of June the ice companies doing business in the city of Somerville advanced the price of ice from 20 to 40 per cent. Ice sold at the present price is absolutely out of reach of the common people. As ice is a commodity absolutely necessary in order to live, and as it is unlawful to monopolize or corner any commodity of life, therefore, we, the undersigned, hereby petition your honorable board to immediately investigate the condition of the different ice companies doing business in the city of Somerville, and, if said companies are found to be charging exorbitant or unlawful prices, to immediately order the same to be reduced to a reasonable price, and to establish a municipal plant for the production of ice in the city of Somerville.

Alfred B. Robinson, McCarthy, French, Cummings and MacLeod were appointed members of the special committee by the President of the association.

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—If the 250 building contractors who on Monday instituted a lockout against 5,000 union men belonging to organizations affiliated with the building trades council attempt to employ non-union men in place of those locked out, the industrial council will declare a general strike.

A. F. L. BARBERS MAY QUIT; REST PARADE TODAY

A section of the American Federation of Labor barbers in Great Britain who the I. W. O. strikers return to work which have contracts with the American Federation of Labor, the leaders of which have declared that they will not honor the civil organization.

The strikers did not return to work last night, as three hours this afternoon will be used in parading to celebrate their victory. Headed by a big brass band, the strikers start from No. 284 Cornhill street at 2 p. m. after a meeting at the headquarters, where the strikers will take it as their return to work.

By a vote of 428 to 14 the strikers accepted the terms offered by the employers and the I. W. O. strikers who have been declared off the strike will be permitted to work. The strikes will be terminated at 10 p. m.

The attitude of the American Federation of Labor was not considered by the I. W. O. leaders and all attempts were futile to get a statement as to what action they will take if provided by the union.

The strikers will be permitted to work at 10 p. m. and all attempts

The elevator was the first meeting place of Miss Hughes and her fiancé, who associated with his father in the jewelry business in that building.

Miss Hughes, who is the daughter of Mr. J. Hughes, by years a civil engineer in the city water department, was employed until recently as a stenographer in the building in the building with his father, the "Cahill" building, a well-known South Boston establishment.

LYNN TEACHER LISTS FORGERS OF "EXCUSES"

Principal Eugene D. Russell of the Lynn
High School is to establish a "forget list" to put in the school hall to prevent pupils from bringing in forged notes explaining absences.

"Pupils who forge notes for absence or dismissal are in the same class with swindlers and criminals," he told the people.

The names of all pupils who write their parents' names on notes will be posted in a conspicuous place so that the entire school may read the list.

SEEK 20 NURSES TO GUARD LIVES OF HUB BABIES

A supervisory nurse to act as a mediator between the Milk and Baby Hygiene Association and the various medical and philanthropic agencies interested in baby nursing, will be appointed by the Board of Health, if the committee appointed at a union meeting at No. 3 Joy street, obtaining the report.

The Milk and Baby Hygiene Association will try to double its present staff of twenty visiting nurses, Director O. B. Hodgson believing that the major part of the 20,000 babies born annually in Boston will need a better show of living if there is more than one nurse to each 1,000.

"Thirty per cent of the problem is educating the mother," he said, "and the rest is pure milk."

Dr. W. J. Sullivan, chief of the division of child hygiene of the Boston Board of Health, said: "Many believe baby nursing is important a function of government as police and fire control. We are only too glad to receive help from any agency."

Tufts Class Day at College Hill

Entire Day Given Over to Festivities of Graduating Class.

The senior classes of Tufts and Jackson Colleges today held their class day exercises on the College Hill at Medford. The program was opened by President Frank B. Patterson of Jackson, N. J., with an address of welcome in the Goddard Chapel at 11 o'clock. The class ode, "There and Back," was then sung. The music was by Miss Mildred Anderson of Stronghurst, Ill., and the words by Miss Arby Hugg of Somerville. The chapel services were delivered by William Harvey of Newfane, Vt.

Dinner was served in the Goddard gymnasium at 1 o'clock. The tree erection in the afternoon was delivered by Clinton L. Scott of Newport, Vt. Joseph T. of the class march, then gave the program and presented the other classes with their gifts. The class history was read by Louis K. of Brookline. From 4 until 5:30 the Salem Cadet Band was on the campus.

From 5 until 7 o'clock the different fraternities will entertain their guests in the various chapter houses at supper. At 7:30 the Old Club will give a concert on the steps of the Barnum Museum. At 8 o'clock dancing will start in the Goddard gymnasium.

To Temper Heat of the Tariff Fight

Senators Now Bask in Comfort of Breezes Wafted from 4 Big Fans.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The Senate convened under the cooling breezes from four huge fans, hung from the ceiling of the Senate chamber. A new fan installation is postponed until heated oratory and the thermometer with each other in a sweating race that drives the senators to the use of palm leaf fans and handkerchiefs beneath damp collars.

Under the Democratic regime, however, fan-holding has become a habit, and the fan is now a part of the senator's equipment. "I am taking the fan from the oft repeated prediction of the 'National Tariff' that 'it' will be the electrician to work early."

English Welcome Liner Imperator

LONDON, June 12.—The Mayor of Southampton headed several hundred curious Britons who went out in leaders to witness the arrival of the new Hamburg-American liner Imperator on its way to New York. The Mayor's addresser plotted the liner on her run to New York. This is the largest vessel afloat, but to English minds her equally appointed makes her look smaller than the Olympic.

HOLD DRIVER OF AUTO TRUCK FOR KILLING OF BOY SAVES 3 GIRLS IN RUNAWAY AT HORSE SHOW

Excerpt 1. Quin's witness, of Brighton, is held to $5,000 at Cambridge, charged with manslaughter, an auto truck he was driving running down and killing Theodore Holt, nine, son of Patrolman Holt of Cambridge.

Young Holt was running down Hodson street, Cambridge, to see the fire apparatus responding to a call. The roadway is closed to traffic on one side on account of repairs to the elevated tracks in the crowd of children Theodore got across the street and as he tried to dodge an automobile going toward him. Cambridge the heavy truck bowled him over beneath the wheel.

Patrolman Holt, who had been advised of the accident, came running to the scene. He soon learned of the death of "Tedy." He collapsed and had to be led to his home by fellow officers. On the seat of the truck with Quin was Michael Pierre, twenty-five, of No. 251 Boston avenue, Swampscott, the regular operator of the truck. Quin, according to the police, had no operator's license and was learning to drive.

Biplane Hits Garage.

GRAND CITY, Pa., June 12.—Earl Senn, the aviator, sustained compound fractures of the left leg and the right arm when his biplane, in the act of making a flight over Grove City, Pa., crashed, dived from a height of fifty feet and, striking a garage, burst into flames, throwing the aviator to the ground.

PALE. RIVIERA, June 12.—Patrick Lalor, a horse show operator, is today being hailed as a hero, after saving from injury Joseph A. Baker and three little girls, after Baker's spirited steed had dashed on a runaway career twice around the show ring.

Several policemen about the ring, together with some of the officials, attempted to head off the runaway, but in vain, when Lalor crawled under the ropes, ran across the ring and, as the horses reared him, sprang into the carriage, seized the reins from Mr. Baker's hands and, standing upright, almost threw the pair on their butchers.

After that, he seized the horses' bridles and soon brought them to a standstill.

Measure Value by the Yardstick of Quality

The world-old, world-wide test of merchandise is Quality. In men's clothes, quality consists of four essentials—all wool fabrics, correct style, good tailoring and proper fit. Sacrifice any one of these and you sacrifice a certain measure of value that no price concession can ever offset.

You needn't be especially observing to know that off-color patterns, slighted tailoring and questionable styles—bargain-counter goods of doubtful value at any price—are unusually plentiful this season. But if that's the kind of merchandise you're looking for, you won't find it here.

Our business is built on the firm foundation of Quality and your money's most. While we show the largest and most varied stock in New England, it includes only garments which measure up flush with every requirement of Good Clothes—clothes of known quality and standard value.

Now while holding fast to this quality idea, remember that because of our lower rent, bigger spot-cash buying for six great stores and spot cash selling to everyone alike, we always give better values at each and every price than others care or can afford to offer.

The House of Kuppenheimer

This progressive concern enjoys an enviable reputation as the foremost makers of fine clothing in America. Their name in your suit stamps it as a garment of correct style and true worth, every seen and unseen feature of which is safe-guarded by virgin wool fabric and conscientious hand needlework.

The patterns range from the popular club checks down through all shades of plain and fancy grays and pencil stripes to conservative blues and sedate blacks, each and every one a gentleman's suit in the true sense of the word. At the special Kennedy prices they represent the limit of value-giving.

CONFESSION OF WOMAN CLEARS SLAYING OF TWO

HARRISONVILLE, Mo., June 12.—Detectives have obtained from Mrs. Arthur Kellar a confession that it was she who killed her husband and their daughter, Margaret, seven. Kellar and the girls were slain with an axe as they lay in their beds and the case has been a mystery since Tuesday.

"God knows I would not have killed them, had I known what I was doing," Mrs. Kellar said in jail. She declared she had frequently been irresponsible for the past several years and that she had received a blow on the head two years ago.

VOTERS OF MASSACHUSETTS: The most POWERFUL RAILROAD LOBBY this State has seen in twenty years, by methods PECULIAR to lobbyists, has pushed over Governor Foss's veto the so-called Trolley Merger bill, which gives the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad a right to grab the street railways in more than half of Massachusetts.

It is a vicious bill, without one respectable excuse. It has been condemned by the Governor, by the Railroad Commission, by the Chamber of Commerce, by the Tax Commissioner, by the Public Franchise League and by the last Democratic convention.

The AMERICAN intends to do all it can to defeat those who voted to put this evil bill over the Governor's head.

If you disapprove of this bill, will you HELP US to defeat these legislators next Fall?

Send us your name and address. It will not be published, but will be put on a card index so that we may consult with you when the next primaries and election come. If you happen to know your Representative or Senator, or know anything about him that may be HELPFUL TO US in this fight, please send us this information also. We shall regard it as strictly confidential.

No matter how little you have ever had to do with politics you can help if you have a vote or know others who have a vote and will help.

The Legislature Should Sus- tain the Governor's Veto of the Washburn Bill

Governor Foss has vetoed the so-called Washburn Railroad Bill upon very proper grounds. The bill, in every section save Sections 36 and 16, is a good bill, but in those two sections the Commonwealth is made to pay a price to the railroads—its own creatures—for the privilege of regulating them.

The objectionable feature in the bill is that which permits the railroads to issue bonds not secured by a mortgage, in a manner in which it is now illegal to do. The investors, particularly the savings banks, have bought railroad bonds in reliance upon the existing law, and the provisions of this bill are believed by the officers of the savings banks to impair these securities which they now hold.

Whatever the merits or demerits of the sections may be, they do not belong in a bill purporting to regulate the railroads. They should have been decided in a separate bill upon their merits, and a Legislature uncontrolled by the railroad lobby would not have coupled them with the otherwise excellent Washburn bill and caused the Governor to veto the bill.

Tomorrow Is Flag Day---a National Holiday

This Day Ought to Remind Congressmen That the American Flag Ought Occasionally to Be Seen Where Other Flags
Are Floating.

Copyright, 1913, by Star Company.

Tomorrow, June 14, is Flag Day, a national holiday. The flag of the United States is a good flag, although a good many rascals hide under it and wrap it around their carcasses for protection when they are caught in their rascality.

A system of monopoly and extortion has grown up under it; the plans of those who created the flag and fought for it in the days of Washington have miscarried sadly in many instances.

And the flag floats just now over a people a little more interested in baseball than in national progress, and considerably more interested in the style of a Spring hat than in any question of government.

Nevertheless, it is a good flag; its stars and stripes do represent glory, courage and honor.

Those Americans who take their flag and their country seriously will think earnestly on the day set apart to honor the flag.

We hope that Flag Day will arouse thoughts especially in the minds of our distinguished statesmen at Washington.

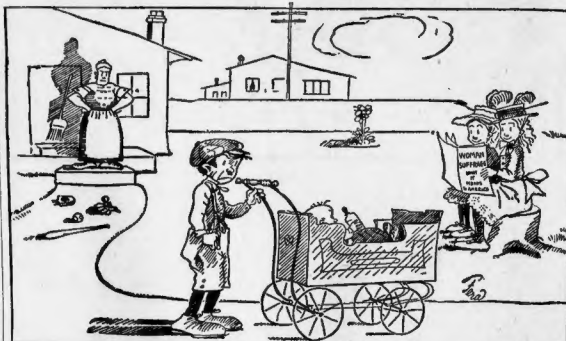

May they reach the conclusion that the American flag is fit to be seen on the oceans and seas of the world, AND MAY THEY FLAY TO HAVE IT SEEN.

May our solemn statements also be reminded by Flag Day of the fact that the flag is unfortunate in that those that live beneath it

One Vote Against It

THE GRADUATE

By MINNA IRVING

YOU ought to have seen our Commencement—
It was perfectly splendid this year.
My gown was of chiffon and satin.
With fringes all tinkly and clear.
Dad gave me a bracelet of diamonds!
Who stood at the head of the class?
Why, Nell, in a made-over muslin.
In which she looked grayer than grass.
My essay was a corker, entitled
"What a Poodle Should Have for His Lunch."
My brother came up in the motor,
With Bob and the whole of the bunch.
My diploma was tied with blue ribbon—
I was lucky to get one, they say.
The rest carried off all the honors,
But I had the biggest bouquet.

lack patriotism, fearfulness and a willingness to make sacrifices for the sake of national honor.

As matters stand today, if we had a war with a first-class naval power, we should have the American flag spending a good deal of its time being hauled down and surrendered. This is not a very gay thought for Flag Day.

The Japanese, who really take their flag and their national honor seriously, are building three huge battleships yearly, and this country, with ten thousand times as much as Japan at stake, with individual States inside its borders richer than Japan, feels that it CANNOT AFFORD even a three-battleship program that would keep our navy at least partially prepared for serious conflict.

Flag Day should remind the citizen that this country may develop in a manner worthy of an honorable flag.

It should remind the citizen of his duty to do all that he can by hard, earnest work and good living to be worthy of those whose courage created the flag.

And Flag Day should remind the narrow-brained, parsimonious, nearsighted Democrats who have been kicked into power in spite of shortcomings by trust dishonesty that a flag worth having is worth defending.

Letters from American Readers

THE WAR ON FLIES

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:
Dear Sir—I read your editorial on the "Killing of Flies" with great interest. We cannot all make a specialty of killing flies. It would be very funny if we were all to go around doing nothing but destroying flies. The real "war" in a campaign against flies should be the Board of Health. It is its business to take the fly seriously, not even a layman may venture a few suggestions how to prevent the further breeding of the fly:—
1. The city should provide a large number of iron barrels, tightly covered, for refuse and ashes, and collect these men often and earlier in the day. The city should make housewives provide such receptacles.

2. Each tenement house should have its own system of burning up garbage. It is a simple matter to have a small, old-fashioned incinerator. It has been tried in the Elizabeth Peabody House. It is easier to educate people than to avoid them. We should have a law providing that food should not be exposed to the dust of the street, and that everything that is available for food, too good to buy for food, be sent to a place where it is well covered. Ladies should also be asked to provide window screens, which are unknown in North, West and South Side. Thousands of windows are without screens. The tenants are, of course, too poor to buy them.

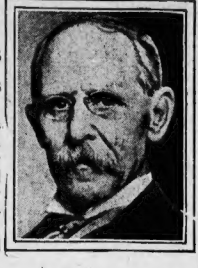

3. The most dangerous thing is spitting in public places, where flies breed and breed. For example, at Ball's Square thousands of people gather daily. The flies are everywhere. It would be a good idea to remedy these things if the laws were well enforced. Ladies should also be asked to provide window screens, which are unknown in North, West and South Side. Thousands of windows are without screens. The tenants are, of course, too poor to buy them.

The Scientific Mapping of the United States

GARRETT P. SERVISS

Says:

"The Topographic Atlas Sheets of the U. S. Geological Survey Are So Interesting and So Cheap That They Ought to Be in Everybody's Hands. A New Charm for School Children in Them"

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

A DIMINISHING glass is sometimes as useful as a magnifier. A view through the wrong end of a telescope will occasionally bring out important relations between the different parts of a landscape that escape attention when it is looked at in the ordinary way.

The topographic atlas sheets, now produced at the rate of two new ones a week by the United States Geological Survey, are examples of the effect of seeing big things on a relatively small scale. Before long, the entire area of the United States will thus be presented to the eye, with all its variations of level, its plains, river valleys, mountains, chains, ranges of hills, plateaus and canyons, so correctly represented that, with a slight effort of the imagination, one seems to be looking at the country through a huge telescope turned wrong end to.

There is no comparison between ordinary maps and charts of this kind. With these topographic sheets before him, one can make a journey while sitting in his room, and obtain a surprisingly accurate idea of the appearance of the country through which his imaginary journey lies. I have taken some of the sheets covering the Mohawk Valley country, with which I was familiar in childhood, and forgotten scenes have visualized themselves before me with astonishing clearness.

Smallest Details of the Landscapes Stand Out as in Reality

Little knolls, twenty or fifty feet in elevation, as well as ranges of hills one or two thousand feet high; the slightest windings of rivers and streams; the little gulches through which flow rivulets that one can step across; steep-sided banks where foxes make their holes; the sloping fields of hilly farms; sunken dells, and laps of land encircled by crescent-shaped ridges, where, every time the soil is new ploughed, Indian arrow-heads may yet be picked up—all these things stand out in the charts almost as distinctly as in the real scene.

The secret of these maps lies in their "contour lines." Through every point having a given elevation above the chosen base level, which may be the bed of the nearest large river, a continuous line is run, following all the natural curves of the land. Then every point that is either twenty feet higher or twenty lower is connected by another parallel line. Where the slope is steep the lines crowd together; where there are broad areas having nearly the same level the lines are widely spaced; where hills or precipitous banks exist the contour lines bring them out as in a picture looked at from above.

It does not require more than ten minutes study to accustom the eye to interpret the information thus conveyed. All the roads and cross-roads are shown; all the farm-houses and barns, all the village streets, and with one of these charts before him a driver or chauffeur would be stupid indeed if he could not find his way and know in advance the lay of the land and the general character of the road far ahead of him.

On some of the charts where the levels change but slightly, as in the Mississippi delta, the contour lines show every variation of five feet, and all sloughs and swampy places are shown, while the scale of the charts, in many cases, is such that every inch of paper corresponds to a half mile on the land. But in hilly regions twenty-foot contours and often fifty-foot contours are sufficient, with a scale of one or two miles to the inch.

Charts Far Better Than Any Napoleon Could Have Obtained

This scientific mapping of the earth's face is a thoroughly modern achievement, and it is one of the most important works that any government can perform. It requires but a little thought to discover its innumerable practical applications. In France, and elsewhere in Europe, army officers are required to obtain, by the aid of such charts, an intimate knowledge of all the lands that they may have to defend or invade. They can tell at a glance where the strategic points ahead of them lie with an accuracy that was not attainable to Napoleon with all his devotion to map-study. The charts of his time were relatively crude affairs.

In the newer parts of our country the geological survey sheets, with accompanying information, give invaluable guidance to settlers, to prospectors in search of water courses or mineral lands, and to engineers studying problems of drainage and irrigation.

These charts are so informing and interesting, and moreover so cheap, that they ought to be in every school child's hands. The charts aid the study of geography could be made to assume a new charm for school children.

SONG OF THE GOOD ROAD

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1913, by American-Journal-Editor

I AM a Road; a good road, fair and smooth and broad;
And I link with my beautiful brother.
Town, Road, Country together,
Like a ribbon rolled on the earth from the reel of God.

Oh, great the life of a Road!

I am a Road; a long road, leading on and on;
And I cry to the world to follow,
Past meadow and hill and below,
Through country and light, to the open gates of dawn.

Oh, hold the life of a Road!

I am a Road; a kind road, shaped by strong hands.
I make strange cities neighbors;
The poor grow rich with my labors,
And beauty and comfort follow me through the lands.

Oh, glad the life of a Road!

I am a Road; a wise road, knowing all men's ways;
And I know how each heart reaches
For the things dear Nature teaches;
And I am the path that leads into green young May.

Oh, sweet the life of a Road!

I am a Road; and I speed away from the slums,
Away from desolate places,
Away from unused spaces;
Wherever I go, there order from chaos comes.

Oh, brave the life of a Road!

I am a Road and I would make the whole world one,
I would give hope to duty,
And cover the earth with beauty.
Do you not see, Oh men! how all this might be done?
So vast the power of the Road!

MRS. PHILIP DAVIS.
